

Walter Zimmerman
Founding Manager: Melvin Henry Center
Core Values and Opus Statements

Who I am

I am a lifelong learner working to create and share the resources necessary for people to grow beyond all opposition and division. I am a social entrepreneur creating individualized small business and workforce training initiatives that support the sharing of time and the expression of individualized pathways to success. I am a creator and cultivator of ideas and I am a servant of God.

My Passion – Why I Work

My passion is to serve God and fellow man by creating platforms for the expression of altruism and individualized success in the free market.

World Views: Truths Guiding My Work

There is always work for the hard worker

The realities of sustaining physical labors reveal and embody truths as profound as art and prayer

No one can rise to their greatest potential if they accept the lie of limited resources

No one can live fully in body without good food, comfortable clothing, and freedom from excessive work

No one can live fully in mind without books, art, and travel

No one can live fully in soul without love and love is denied expression by poverty

Role Modeling lives full in body, mind, and soul is the greatest gift we can render to God and our fellow man

Life, during the act of living, increases abundance; abundance is life seeking full expression

No one is kept in poverty because of a limited opportunity or riches; Nature is an inexhaustible supply of individualized paths to abundance

Principles Guiding my Work

Thought is the root of desire

Desire is potential seeking expression

Thoughts define our potential

Free thought requires recognizing the greater truths beyond appearances

Success is created by helping others become successful

Becoming part of the solution eliminates one part of a problem

No one should be satisfied with a little when they are capable of using a lot

Free action requires free thought

O - Overall Vision

Walter Zimmerman
Founding Manager: Melvin Henry Center
Core Values and Opus Statements

My over all vision for the world includes:

- World consensus for identifying and unfolding humanities perfection
- Individuals role modeling perseverance over learned helplessness and the natural proclivity for laziness
- Communities of people acting upon the altruistic providence that forces individuals into self activity and good works
- New voices and activities that manifest the intrinsic and real value of sharing and the happiness of helping
- Local industry, small businesses, and community leaders collaborating for the creation of community education and small business development initiatives
- Expanded access to all the resources capable of being used effectively

P – Purpose of My Work

The purpose of my work is to motivate people of all social strata into self activity by acting upon the altruistic providence aiding in humanities rise above all oppositions and divisions.

U – Unifying Strategies: Structure and focus for the work

Create and sustain an IRS Determined 501 C 3 Public Charity

The various types of sponsorships inherent in the 501 c 3 Public Charity tax code provide the primary business structures for unfolding the visions of individuals from all social strata. Whether it is a vision for obtaining the daily requirements for survival or a vision for actively participating in solving socially relevant issues, the Public Charity tax code and associated sponsorships is the preferred business structure for economic transactions benefitting an identified population. Creating and sustaining participation in a 501 c 3 Public Charity is keystone for creating communities of people acting upon the altruistic providence that forces individuals into self activity and good works

Create free market experiences based upon individual strengths and a realization of unrestricted potential for personal and professional growth

The free market is the best known tool for expressing the full potential of the earth's resources and their ability to aid in humanities rise above oppositions and divisions. Examples of the free markets ability to aid in humanities rise above opposition and diversity general include America's Robber Barons, since they created the framework necessary to expand humanities access to food, fun, and freedom, and specifically include Madam C.J Walker, Thomas Edison, and Dr. Ben Carson among millions of others.

Expanding the small business and social entrepreneurs access to the 501 c 3 Public Charity tax code by way of fiscal sponsorships and donor advised funds is key to a value added economy and creating a free market culture that expresses the intrinsic and real value of sharing and the happiness of helping

Walter Zimmerman
Founding Manager: Melvin Henry Center
Core Values and Opus Statements

Share time, knowledge, and resources so that others may role model free and unrestricted personal and professional growth

Everyone has in their possession the divine treasures of time, thoughts, and kind words. Interestingly enough; It is the what, who, when, where, why, and how we share these divine treasures that create the boundaries influencing personal and professional potential. Sharing time, knowledge, and resources across all social strata and with non-peer friends is foundational to sustaining a 501 c 3 Public Charity and creating the platforms for the expression of individualized growth and humanities rise above all oppositions and divisions.

S – Scorecard for Significance: The 5 year Playbook of Productive Action for Measuring the Accomplishments in the Master Work

Create and sustain an IRS Determined 501 C 3 Public Charity

- IRS Determination Letter: 1) Received IRS Determination Letter on Nov -----
- Board of Directors: Recruitment initiatives continue as I complete the work necessary to recruit the first participant on the Board of Directors, Governance Council, or Executive Committee
- Serve the community with measurable Social Outcomes: 1) gifting clothes, toys, and books; 2) collaborate with other organizations for the distribution of blankets and clothes during winter months

Create free market experiences based upon individual strengths and a realization of free and unrestricted potential for personal and professional growth

- Curate historically significant property for use as accredited trades training laboratories, historical curatorships, and Temporary Long Term living facilities: 1) present sponsorship models and establish industry partnerships for the procurement of property and the creation individualized on the job learning opportunities for those in need of temporary long term housing: 2) establish open access to renewable energies training for the creation of sustainable employments for weatherization technicians and other renewable energy professionals upon completion of project: 3) collaborate with local employers for creating sustainable individualized employment opportunities: 4) establish Continuing Education Credit Agreements with local institutes of higher education for creating individualized internships and pre-workforce skill training opportunities: 5) provide open access to Melvin Henry Center’s industry recognized Certification training and curriculum for the creation of job exploration opportunities: 6) collaborate with local Workforce Investment Boards for creating a pool of volunteers and non-traditional learners: 7) collaborate with faith based organizations for identifying a population of individuals with a vested interest in the learning process and the success of the project
- Build a thrift shop and green house as platforms for others’ expression of personal potential, revenue, entrepreneurial initiatives, and individualized paths to success: 1) create on job descriptions and learning opportunities for Social Media and Website Coordinator, Marketing Coordinator, Community Outreach Spokesman, Fundraising Manager, Product Sorter, and

Walter Zimmerman
Founding Manager: Melvin Henry Center
Core Values and Opus Statements

Drivers: 2) expand access to resources necessary to discover new aptitudes in safe learning environments: 3) serve the community by gifting clothes, household items, and fresh vegetables

- Build a Veterans and Young Professionals Club for role modeling growth out of opposition and the creation and distribution of niche products and services: 1) provide locally relevant and measurable social economic outcomes: 2)

Share time, knowledge, and resources so that others may discover opportunities to role model free and unrestricted personal and professional growth

- 500 hrs. of volunteer hrs per year for public charity other than Melvin Henry Center: 1) 12 hrs. week @ Frederick Mission for past 7 months: 2)
- Collaborate with other organizations for the planning and implementation of a community based activities: 1) planning winter community service events; 2) soliciting volunteers
- Provide open access to pre-workforce and workforce skills curriculum
- Build social media network and blog archives for the dissemination and consumption of information